A VISIT TO THE MUMME POULTRY FARM.

The Managing Editor and his Assistant paid a brief visit Sunday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mumme on their poultry farm about ten or twelve miles southwest of Hondo. It was indeed a treat to see how these energetic young people care for their poultry. They keep only one variety, the big bone strain of White Leghorns, and they are equipped for handling their fowls in a systematic and business-like way.

There are some 1200 or 1500 laying hens on the farm. These are distributed among five pens, four of these being general purpose hens and one a pen of registered fowls, each one banded with a number and registered in a record book. From this pen, Mr. Mumme plans to select his layers until his entire flock is registered and all are descendants from high-laying ancestry. He has not sold any of the offspring from this flock but has sold up to the capacity of his flock from the other four pens.
He had just received an order for 400 started pullets in one order which he will fill with six-week-old pullets.

He has an incubator capacity of 2200 eggs and four brooder houses that carry from 300 to 400 chicks each.

Mr. Mumme grows, grinds and mixes his own grain feeds, and by a process of rotation from one pen to another, maintains a green pasture almost the year around.

We could write much more about the methods of this successful poultry raiser, but like our visit to the farm time will not permit more extended description at this time.

W. P. A. ACTIVITIES.

Commissioner Precinct No. 1 is faring well under the revised system of government relief whereby work instead of direct donations or gifts are made. On project No. 31 alone the Federal Government has spent,
up to and including April 15, 1936, according to figures furnished us by Commissioner Bader, $23,152.58 for labor. In addition to this it has provided 8,400 sacks of cement, 1,706 yards of concrete, 72,889 pounds of reinforcement steel, 53,650 pounds of piling, 20,606 feet of lumber and $150.00 worth of nails.

With this labor and material, supplemented as needed by the county, 1,668 feet of bridges, including nine low water bridges and slabs, have been constructed.

The nine structures are located as follows in the precinct: one slab on Bandra Creek on Tarpley-Rothe school house road; three on Verde Creek and five on the Hondo Creek.
The largest of these is a 692-foot slab at the Stiegler crossing on the Hondo.

In addition to this work that has been completed, Mr. Bader reports a 320-foot slab for the Peachtree Wat-erhole road approved as well as a steel bridge of three 90-foot spans for the Elstone crossing of the Hondo Creek. This new bridge will be four feet higher than the old bridge that was washed away at that crossing in 1919.

Besides these substantial improvements, Mr. Bader has other helpful plans for improving the roads of his precinct under consideration.

ATTENTION FARMERS!

The Medina County Organization
for the 1936 Soil Conservation Program is now ready to start the "Sign-Up" for grants to farmers under the ified to assist the farmers in filling out their sheets:

Much time will be saved if each farmer makes out a list of the number of acres of each crop planted in 1935.

A farmer may go to any of the above mentioned places to sign up, whichever is the most convenient.
Please do not wait until the last day.

MUENNINK ROADSIDE PARK.

Through efforts and sponsorship of the Texas Highway Department a roadside park which will also be the location of a memorial to Medina County, is under construction on Highway No. 3, located East of Hondo, and near Hondo Creek.

This project was made possible by the wholehearted generosity and undying public spirit of Mr. John Muennink of Hondo, through a donation of an acre and a half of his property fronting Highway No. 3, which will be the site for the roadside park and memorial (of pink granite with plaque), commemorating historical events of the county. This site will henceforth be owned and maintained by the Texas Highway Department and will be known as the John Muennink Park.

THE FIRE FIGHTERS.

The Fire Department has been active since a recent organization, and quite a bit of interest has been created, and every Thursday night finds the Fire Boys in their regular meeting and at their practice. The members of the Fire Department, however, soon realized that the equipment was out of date and rather obsolete, and to effectively combat a fire requires that good equipment be available when the emergency arises. Along with equipment we find that there are also other expenses, such as rent, lights, chemicals, gasoline, oil, tires, tubes, etc., all of which must be paid.

At the present time we are out of funds, with bills outstanding, and the people must come to our aid, or else see a disbanded Fire Department. At a recent meeting it was unanimously decided that the entire town be canvassed and that each adult be asked to contribute the small sum of a dime, each month, and if the people of this community will get in back of this plan, we will be able to pay ourselves out of the "red" and at the same time get sufficient funds in time to come to purchase some very greatly needed equipment, such as additional hose, a "booster truck" and a general reconditioning of equipment on hand.

May we request that every person shoulder his or her responsibility in this matter, so that we can put over this important project; if you do your part, we will do our part. Our services are free.

TEA HONORS MISS WILSON.

Miss Mary Ruth Wilson, the bride-elect of Mr. Arnold Newsome of Pearshall, was honored with a tea and shower from 3:30 to 7:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. A. C. Thallman. Pink roses, pink sweet peas and fern graced the reception rooms where about 100 guests were received during the hours. The tea table, laid with an exquisite lace cloth over pale pink satin, held as a centerpiece a white Italian pottery bowl filled with pink sweet peas. The color scheme was further carried out in the pale pink tapers in white holders. Tea dainties were pineapple milk sherbert, heart-shaped cake iced in white, and pink and white mints.

Receiving were Mrs. A. C. Thall-man, the hostess, Miss Wilson, the honoree, and her mother, Mrs. Isaac Wilson. Mrs. T. C. Barnes, Mrs. T.
R. Cameron, Mrs. G. R. Carle, Mrs.
G. F. Killough, and Mrs. F. H.
Schweers alternated in serving. Mrs.
R. C. Rath, sister of the bride-to-be,
was in charge of the gifts and Miss Gladys Fusselman presided over the guest book, which was bound in hand-painted white organdy and tied with white satin ribbon.

The honoree was attractive in a sheer frock of pink lace over a form-fitting pink taffeta slip, with which she wore a corsage of white gar-denias. Mrs. Wilson was in lavender crepe with a corsage of white roses;

Mrs. Thallman's dress was figured pastel crepe with which she wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The other members of the houseparty wore corsages of pink and white sweet peas.

We can forward your subscriptions for most any newspaper published.

To Our Subscribers

TO THOSE DELINQUENT:

Knowing that most of you are like ourselves, harassed by shortage of money on account of the depression and the effects of former drouths, we have sought to trouble you as little as was humanly possible about subscription renewals. We would like to pass up the matter now until you found it convenient to pay without urge or solicitation, but the postal regulations require that we discontinue the sending of our paper to you after you have had "a period of one year from the date of expiration" to renew for a definite time or make "a bona fide promise to pay". So if you know yourself to be coming under this postal proscription with your subscription, a prompt renewal or a written request from you for extension of your time with a promise to pay must be sent without delay or we necessarily have to discontinue your paper without further notice.
We have no option in the matter as the "second class mailing privilege" is the life of the newspaper and it can be held only by conforming to the rules and regulations proscribed by the postal authorities.

Please do not overlook or neglect to heed this and save us from needless expense and yourself from missing the regular visits of your paper.
Here is the Postoffice rule that makes the above necessary:

"4. Expired subscriptions.

"The right of publishers to extend in good faith credit on subscriptions is recognized and will not be abridged, and although all subscriptions are regarded as expiring with the period for which they were obtained, nevertheless, in order to give an opportunity to secure renewals, copies of their publications shall be accepted for mailing as to subscribers at the usual second-class rates of postage for a period of one year from the date of expiration, except in the case of subscriptions for less than one year, but copies sent to persons after one year from the date of expiration of their subscriptions, or,
in the case of subscriptions for less than one year, copies sent after the date of the expiration thereof unless such subscriptions be expressly renewed for a definite time, together with an actual payment of subscription or a bona fide promise of payment, shall not be accepted as subscribers' copies but shall be accepted as other than subscribers' copies at the rates shown in Section 546."

Thanking you in advance for a prompt and favorable response,
We are yours to serve,
THE EDITORS.

BUT MAY HAVE TO BE WITHDRAWN EARLIER. SO PLEASE LET US HEAR FROM YOU WITH AT LEAST THE AMOUNT NOW OWING
THE PAPER WHETHER OR NOT YOU WISH TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE REDUCED RATE TO PAY IN ADVANCE—OTHERWISE THE

TAGE OF THE RATE TO PAY UP TO BUT NOT TO EXCEED THREE YEARS. WHEN THIS OFFER IS WITHDRAWN THE REGULAR

BENJAMIN F. BERKELEY ANNOUNCES.

To The Voters 29th Senatorial District:

On January 1, 1936, the press of El Paso carried a statement from me that I would be a candidate for the State Senate from the 29th Senatorial District in the forthcoming Democratic Primary election.

This decision was reached after I had received encouragement from interested voters from many counties comprising the 29th District. The larger number of these came from the plain people, wage-earners, mechanics, tradesmen and ranchmen who are vitally concerned in securing representation at Austin, known to be independent and responsive to the general welfare of the masses.
They seem to think my Legislative experiences, forty years residence in the District and thorough knowledge of its resources, agriculture, live stock raising, mining, irrigation, etc., gives me a closeup view of every reasonable need of our people.

I invite the closest examination of my official record while holding your commission as State Senator from 1924 to 1932 and submit herewith a summary of the most noteworthy

BENJAMIN F. BERKELEY

bills and appropriations, sponsored and passed by me, of vital importance to this District that you may determine their merit and pass judgment as to their value to our people and the State as a whole:

West Texas Land Re-appraisement
Act.

Permanent Machinery Setup for Appropriation for Predatory Animal Control.

Appropriation for Determining Feasibility of Dam Site on Pecos River.

Appropriation to Mark Texas-New Mexico Boundary.

Creation of Several New District Courts in the Oil Producing Territories.

$100,000.00 Public Calamity Appropriation for Rehabilitation, School and Water System, Rocksprings Cyclone.

Complete Reorganization of Texas
Health Department.

Bill, Taxing University Lands in West Texas for Local Purposes.

Worked for and Voted for River
Bed Bill and Mineral Relinquishment
Act.

With a background of eight years
Legislative experience and an unparalleled record of attendance extending over seven and one-half years without missing a Senate roll call, I am by training and experience prepared to render the very highest type of service to my District. Moreover,
I am unfettered by any alliance or entanglements with special interests or political cliques and while my financial resources are limited, I am independent in every other way and will devote my entire time and attention to the duties of the office at each and every session of the Legislature.

I cheerfully respond to the call for service and will carry the torch of battle as the champion of the plain people absolutely free and unfettered. I shall be deeply grateful for your vote and assistance in this contest. If elected, the finest and best within my gift shall be dedicated to the people of my District and all Texas.

BENJAMIN F. BERKELEY.

MANAGING EDITOR.

Attention is invited especially to the notice elsewhere by the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department. Danger from loss by fire is one we all share in common;
none know when they may be a victim of the fire-fiend. Your neighbor's misfortune may be yours through the spread of flames from his property to your own. Therefore, what is the concern of one is the concern of all,
and we should make common cause in maintaining adequate equipment for successfully coping with any ordinary outbreak of fire. Heed the message from the Fire Company and cooperate with them as far as possible in maintaining Hondo's fire-fighting equipment in an efficient condition.

Illinois Primary Results Interesting and Significant—New Tax Bill Drafted—President Roosevelt Favors Flood Control Projects.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD © Western Newspaper Union.

ILLINOIS' primary held the center of political interest for it not only provided lively state battles but also was of considerable moment nationally.

Frank Knox

Col. Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, and Senator Borah of Idaho, who was born in Illinois, were the contestants for the Republican Presidential preferential vote, and the former came out with 31 delegates against 26 for Borah. The senator's friends were elated because, without organization, he carried a large part of the state outside of Chicago. This preferential vote is purely advisory and neither man has a slate of delegates to the national convention. The result makes it certain that Knox will make a respectable showing on the first roll call. It also adds to Borah's prestige and aids him in the coming Ohio primary.

Gov. Henry Horner, seeking renomination, was victorious in the bitter fight with the regular Democratic organization and the Kelly-Nash machine in Chicago, which had thrown him overboard and supported Bunsen for governor. The Democrats almost unanimously voted for the renomination of Senator James Hamilton Lewis, and the Republicans named former Senator Otis Glenn to oppose him in November.

Republican leaders in Washington were encouraged to believe the internece warfare in the Democratic ranks would help the Republicans to carry the state. The Democratic sages, on the other hand, liked the showing of strength made by Borah, feeling his liberal following might switch to Roosevelt in November if the G. O. P. puts up a conservative candidate.

In Nebraska's primary only Borah's name was printed on the Republican preferential ballot but about one-sixth of the voters wrote in the name of Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas.

For the Democratic preference President Roosevelt was unopposed in both Illinois and Nebraska.

DEFEATING opposition by President Roosevelt's supporters, the state Democratic executive committee of Georgia ordered a Presidential preferential primary on June 3 and fixed the entrance fee for each candidate at $10,000.

"The New Deal has plenty of money to pay for a primary in Georgia and I am in favor of letting them do it," said Will Mann, close personal and political friend of Gov. Eugene Talmadge, administration critic.

The governor was asked directly whether he would oppose President Roosevelt in the primary.

"I don't know," he answered. "I am pretty busy with state affairs right now. It depends on how things shape up in the state."

HAVING discarded the President's suggestion of temporary processing taxes, Chairman Sam B. Hill's house subcommittee completed its draft of the new tax bill.

It calls for a new type of corporation levy, ranging from 1 per cent to 29.7 per cent for corporations with net income up to $10,000, and from 4 to 42½ per cent for corporations with net income over $10,000, depending on the amount of earnings that are not distributed. Preferential tax treatment is given to banks and insurance companies, to debt-ridden companies, to companies in receivership, and a new system of taxing non-resident aliens is created.

Railroads will continue to have the right to file consolidated returns but the committee refused to accept the petition of R. V. Fletcher, general counsel for the Association of American Railroads, that railroads as a segregated group of industry, be given a variety of special deductions in computing taxable net income.

WITH appropriate ceremony the cornerstone of the new Interior department building in Washington was laid, the President handling the trowel. The structure, the second largest government office building there, is to be completed in December. It covers five and one-half acres and will provide 700,000 square feet of usable floor space. It will cost $12,000,000, about $5,000,000 less than the capital's largest, the Commerce department building. The trowel used by Mr. Roosevelt was the one employed by George Washington in laying the cornerstone of the Capitol in 1793.

IN HIS press conference President Roosevelt said government departments are concentrating on flood control problems and that if congress would pass a bill appropriating a billion dollars for that purpose he would sign it, provided the measure put men to work immediately.

Mr. Roosevelt said the Passamaquoddy project in Maine and Florida ship canal were eliminated because of the recent refusal of congress to make appropriations for continuance of the work. He said he did not contemplate doling out relief funds for the projects and that there would be no funds for the projects unless congress reversed its refusal.

On the same day the United States Chamber of Commerce issued a warning against encroachment of the federal government on flood control projects which are the primary responsibility of the states.

The committee also objected to the New Deal policy of expending large sums for dams to develop hydro-electric power and declared that the administration should follow a well-balanced program having as its foremost purpose the control of floods.

BY A vote of 153 to 137 the house rejected a resolution to permit Senator Black's lobby committee to pay $10,000 to special counsel in injunction litigation started by William Randolph Hearst to protect his telegrams from the probers. This action, which followed a bitter debate, doesn't halt the work of the committee, which has its own funds, but it prevents the payment of more than $3,000 a year, in accordance with general law, to Crampton Harris of Birmingham, Ala., former law partner of Chairman Black.

The lobby committee in a recent session brought out the fact that some wealthy men who are backers of the American Liberty league also have contributed to the Southern Committee to Uphold the Constitution, though what this has to do with lobbying was not quite clear. The Southern committee, which is headed by John Henry Kirby of Houston, Texas, is opposed to some of the New Deal dolings.

SUDDEN death, due to a coronary thrombosis, came to James M. Beck at his residence in Washington, and all informed Americans mourn the demise of this public spirited citizen and eminent authority on constitutional law. Though he was a sturdy and conscientious opponent of the present national administration, leading officials in Washington united with the Republicans in declaring that in his death the nation had sustained a great loss.

Mr. Beck was not only one of the foremost lawyers of America but for more than three decades was a public man of distinction, holding numerous offices at Washington, and an influential place in the councils of the Republican party. Born in Philadelphia in 1861, he first held office as United States attorney for the eastern district of Pennsylvania, as a Democrat. He left that party on the silver issue and was made an assistant attorney general by President McKinley. In 1921 Mr. Harding appointed him solicitor general, an office which he filled with distinction. He then served three terms in congress, where he was one of the best debaters, and retired in 1934.

Richard Yates, former governor of Illinois and former congressman, died in Springfield at the age of seventy-five years. The son of the Civil war governor of the state, Mr. Yates was for many years a picturesque figure in Illinois politics and an influential member of the Republican party.

MUSSOLINI's armies in Ethiopia occupied Dessie, an important military base, and captured vast stores of war materials. Marshal Badoglio at once started an expeditionary force along the excellent road from there to Addis Ababa, and it was believed the capital city would be captured within a few days.

Stiffened by military successes in Africa, the Italian delegation went to Geneva for peace conversations, prepared to demand a peace on Italy's terms, including virtual Italian control of the entire empire of Haile Selassie. Settlement of the matter within the framework of the League of Nations seemed remote if not impossible.

PLANS for mutual defense in case Germany attacks France or Belgium were studied by the general staffs of Great Britain, France and Belgium at a meeting in London. High officers of the armies, navies and air forces were present, with experts to assist them.

It was understood that a major feature of the plan would be to reply to any German attack with a terrific aerial bombardment by massed fleets on German industrial centers, railways, army headquarters, airdromes and seaports.

It was clear that the relatively small British professional army could not give a great deal of help against German aggression, and that Britain's effective aid would be rendered by her navy, which could easily seize control of the North sea and the channel, and her steadily increasing air forces.

Washington.—It has been several months since the administration farm relief program, the agricultural adjustment act, was declared dead, but like the words of the song, "the memory lingers on." And it is quite apparent that mistakes as well as memories of the AAA will continue through the heat of the coming Presidential campaign and probably considerably longer for it is only necessary to recall that the stepbrother of the AAA, the federal farm board of the Hoover administration, still is the butt of much criticism and many pointed paragraphs.

Memory Lingers On

One of the main reasons why the memories linger on, where those memories involve AAA, is Michigan's Republican Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg. Senator Vandenberg never did get enthusiastic about the merits of AAA as they were expounded by Secretary Wallace, Administrator Chester Davis and other New Deal spokesmen and when the Supreme court of the United States threw out the processing taxes upon which the law was predicated, Senator Vandenberg was in a delightful spot from a political standpoint. He has not found it necessary to say "I told you so" and has had, I imagine, a great deal of personal fun in simply hinting to or reminding others of his previous stand.

But it was not until the Michigan senator began pulling figures out of his senatorial hat, showing how benefit payments from the AAA had gone to great and wealthy corporations in sums as high as a million dollars or more, that he held a key to the New Deal skeleton closet. They know now, however, exactly what he meant when he announced in the senate several weeks ago that no such plan as the AAA could be administered without vast sums being distributed in what he termed unwarranted payments—unwarranted from the standpoint of help for the smaller farmers.

Secretary Wallace stalled off Senator Vandenberg's demand in the senate for a complete list of beneficiaries who received checks from AAA in excess of one thousand dollars for quite a while but there were too many senators who believed as Senator Vandenberg did, that the truth ought to be known. Of course, as the procedure usually goes in Washington, many things are done without actual force being used. It was thus in the case of the AAA payments. Democratic senators who foresaw their inability to prevent a senate vote demanding a list of AAA payments persuaded Mr. Wallace to make public the list voluntarily and it was done just in advance of senate action. So, we now have for the first time, at least, an indication of the grotesque results of the agricultural adjustment administration program that was hailed from the Atlantic to the Pacific as an ideal plan.

The dynamite in the situation lies in the fact that there were dozens, even hundreds, of corporations which received AAA checks among the big bounties paid to induce curtailment of basic foreign crops. This would not be so bad except for the fact that the brilliant planners of the AAA continuously stressed its value to the small, debt ridden farmers. Throughout the time the law was under consideration and through the two years of its operation, never did Mr. Wallace or Mr. Davis fail to point out in their numerous speeches how great sums of money, collected in processing taxes, were being distributed to thousands of farmers and that these payments were in time going to put agriculture on its collective feet.

Now, however, the truth of their statements has been proved but when the whole truth had been exposed on the floor of the senate, it was found to go far beyond the small, debt ridden farmers.

The whole truth disclosed, in fact, that several million dollars had been paid even to corporations chartered by the British government and with home offices in England. Wall Street, that home of "entrenched greed," received its share and its share was substantial. On top of all of this there lately has come a disclosure that a great wheat farmer in Montana received something like $50,000 for agreeing not to plant wheat on land which he had rented from the Indians through the Federal Department of the Interior for the specific purpose of raising wheat.

The list of huge benefit payments is much too large to include in this letter but the fact remains that it showed how even the best laid plans of mice and men oft go astray, even when those men are brilliant brain trusters who themselves claim to know all there is available for human understanding. Beyond that, the Vandenberg disclosures have set in motion discussion that will come pretty close to continuing into every farmhouse in the land. Unless I miss my guess, and I am no Doctor Tugwell, thousands of farmers are going to bitterly resent the fact that their payments were small, whereas gigantic corporations received sums ranging from ten to a thousand times as large.

In behalf of the AAA officials, it must be said that there will be as, indeed, there has been, considerable unfair criticism. The criticism to which I refer is of this type: that they should have discovered in advance of the payments that funds were going to these corporations. Assuming that they could have discovered that fact in advance, there was no alternative for them except to pay the checks authorized by law. Congress made the law, or rather congress passed it under the lash of the administration, but it was on the statute books and administrative officials are not supposed to disregard such provisions.

If there is to be criticism it should be directed at the initial framing of the statute that brought about the condition. The results that have attracted so much attention since Senator Vandenberg's exposure constitute one of the curious coincidences and queer quirks of planned economy.

And a further word about the criticism. A great many people are likely to forget that while their check was in three figures and some corporation received one in six figures, the condition results wholly from the fact that one owned more land than the other. You may properly say this should have been foreseen and I believe you will be making a correct statement. But surely this is a fact: the AAA officials cannot be blamed for sending out the checks when the law said they should do it regardless of the name or nature of the beneficiary. The fault lies solely and completely with those who, from their professional desks, conceived the whole scheme and gained President Roosevelt's approval for it.

Development of the vulnerable spots in the AAA crop curtailment program probably will prove beneficial to the country as a whole eventually. For one thing, these disclosures have forever choked off proposals of that kind. They may result as well in strengthening the new proposition for crop control through the medium of soil conservation. In other words, since the bulk of the congress thinks through legislation only in the terms of administration arguments, they will likely be less prone to enact legislation without knowing what results will be obtained.

It seems to me that the new farm-aid plan likely will be stronger and probably more workable and certainly less extravagant than was the AAA because the AAA weaknesses have been exposed. These exposures ought to have an effect also among thinking farmers who hereafter are unlikely to accept dogmatic statements and rainbow pictures painted for them by political demagogues and professional farm leaders without examining the practicability of the scheme. Personally, I am convinced that a great many farmers were led to believe that AAA was their only salvation and they gained this conviction solely because the other side never was told to them.

While we are talking about mistakes and about the results obtained by brilliant theorists, I hear more and more discussion of the latest move by Chairman Henry P. Fletcher and his Republican national committee. Mr. Fletcher has hired ten university professors to head up what he calls the committee's research staff and in announcing their appointment he stressed a declaration that "the division is not a brain trust." But "brain trust" it is going to be called notwithstanding Mr. Fletcher's assertion that they were practical men and women of experience. They are going to be a brain trust in exactly the same sense that Mr. Roosevelt's "brain trust" has been denominated. And how else could it be? There actually seems to be little choice between the type of men Mr. Fletcher has chosen and the Tugwells, Hopkines and other doctors and professors who have constantly had the ear of the President. These men will have Mr. Fletcher's ear and undoubtedly will pour into it their own theories of government and their own ideas of approach to the problem that confronts the Republican national committee, namely, the defeat of Mr. Roosevelt.

I have observed political battles for a good many years and I have observed the management of governmental responsibilities through a parallel period. The conclusion is inescapable, as far as I am concerned, that practical men always have done a better job, always have been better administrators and better planners, than the men and women who have spent their lives lecturing from a university classroom rostrum. I once criticized Professor Tugwell by saying that his qualification for the post of under-secretary of agriculture consisted of tending flowers in a window box and I am wondering now whether Mr. Fletcher's new brain trust is any better equipped for its job. However, we must not forget, the country now has one brain trust trying to find out what is wrong with another brain trust.

No Perfect Crime
A Heavenly 400
Fighting Over Rivers

President Roosevelt, in another "opening speech of the 1936 campaign," addressing 20,000 Young Democrats of Baltimore and the nation on the radio, suggested that youth should begin work at eighteen and "old age" stop work at sixty-five.

Youth should have its first 18 years, at least, for exercise, study, happiness. Sixty-five might be a good age to stop dull routine work for wages, but no man would want to stop real work until death, except that six months to look around this side of the grave might be acceptable.

Goethe finished the second part of "Faust" when he was past seventy-two; and one of the ablest French writers, starting a new prose style, wrote nothing until at eighty-six he wrote the Life of St. Louis at the request of the king's widow. Within half a century 25 years have been added to the average lives of old men; nobody would want those years wasted.

In the murder of an unfortunate young woman, New York detectives think they see, at last, "the perfect crime," one in which the perpetrator cannot be identified. Fortunately, there is no perfect crime, except in the imagination of the criminal or the detective story writer, because criminals are dull, cannot keep their mouths shut, are vain, boast and the electric chair gets them. Also, they jump when a hand is laid on the shoulder; that helps detectives, and criminals are betrayed by fellow criminals.

Bishop Stewart, Episcopalian, of Chicago, thinks immortality may be limited. "Only those who have a definite relationship to God through the spiritual life may be eligible for immortality, and other souls cease to exist upon death."

This important suggestion of a celestial "four hundred" will appeal to many that might not care to meet, in heaven, the cave man with low forehead, protruding jaw, the bushman with a vocabulary of 150 words, or all the repentant thieves, murderers and trust magnates.

It is conceivable that selection of the celestial few might be postponed a few million years, until real civilization shall have begun. This is the poison gas age.

Rivers have played an important part in the world's history and in wars. The Tigris and Euphrates, creating fertile Mesopotamia, and the ancient Nile, with its rich valley, regularly coated with Nile mud, made the first civilizations possible.

Men fought through the ages about those two rivers, and today rivers still cause war. In Europe the Rhine border may cause a repetition of the big war. In Africa, the Blue Nile, fed by Ethiopia's Lake Tana, breeds bitter hatred between England and Italy.

Charles Lamb tells of a Chinese gentleman whose house burned and of a pig so marvelously roasted that thereafter pigs were locked in houses, the houses burned for the sake of the roast pig.

That is recalled by a lady under arrest in Pensacola, Fla. Sheriff Gandy charges she tried twice to wreck a passenger train to kill her husband, the engineer. It is alleged that the plot failed because the wrong spikes were pulled from the rails. Sheriff Gandy thinks the lady wanted to collect $3,000 in life insurance.

An African savage who gave all his ivory tusks for a gun was found later in the bush, on his knees, praying to the gun not to shoot him. He did not know how to use it.

This country is equally ignorant about using youth and its enthusiasm.

A Frenchman says truly "American digestion would improve if Americans made more and better sauces."

Voltaire, another Frenchman, said the same thing of England long ago. He found that England had many religions and only one sauce, whereas France had many sauces and only one religion, and he preferred France.

The new Zeppelin, in spite of engines out of order on her return from Brazil to Germany, kept on her way at 50 miles an hour, fighting winds over the Mediterranean. That is one advantage of a dirigible—she stays up. The heavier-than-air plane with engine trouble comes down.

Russia has a genuine "youth movement," with one-third of all workers under twenty-three years of age, 43 per cent of them girls. Russia has 173,000,000 population, nearly half of it born since the Bolshevik revolution. Populations and history change rapidly. Extreme youth might control the whole of Russia but for the fact that it is already controlled by Stalin, of middle age.

Police Find Family Living in Unused Court Building

New Orleans police rushed to the third floor of the old Criminal Courts building, which isn't used much any more, and extinguished a fire. The police discovered a tenant, Irving Young, a printer, who said he and his wife had been light housekeeping in one of the courtrooms for 18 months. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

CHAPTER I

The house stood alone on a sand-dune overlooking the sea—dark, deserted, and silent, except for the swish of the rain blowing against its shingles. Wet to his skin, and shivering, the Duke struggled to pry open a window. From his dark coat pocket, the Duke drew a cheap jackknife and a tiny searchlight. With these in his hands, he turned to look toward the highway. It was invisible, two hundred yards from the porch on which he stood, winding over and around and about these dunes.

The Duke's thumb pressed the button, and, momentarily, the ray revealed waving wet beach-grass, and a single scrub pine bent in the wind. Then, carefully, he began cutting away the dry putty that held a pane of glass. It was slow work. "Why don't I break the damned thing?" the Duke asked himself, and, a minute later, felt the unshattered glass drop into his hand.

It was easy to open the window, then, and easy for a slim and agile man to climb through. Once inside the house, he paused. Would the electric lights be working, and would it be safe to turn them on? Why not? Half the summer residences in Southampton had been opened for the season. Even an observant passer-by—if there were to be one—would think a brightly lighted room less remarkable than a furtive ray. The Duke touched a switch his searchlight had disclosed beside a door.

It was exactly the sort of room he had expected—a luxurious breakfast room in a luxurious summer residence. Most of the furniture was covered, but a gay breakfast table stood in the center, and, beyond it, was an open door to a pantry. The Duke walked through, and into the kitchen, turning on lights as he went. "Guess they're going to open the house pretty soon. After all, why should they mind an extra weekend guest?"

He grinned, and anyone who had seen that grin might have found it hard to mind. It was an ingratiating grin, in a pleasant, likeable face. A lean face, weather-beaten and a little honey, but with large, kind, steel-gray eyes, surrounded by a thatch of unruly brick-red hair. The Duke's trim figure stretched a tidy six feet above the worn soles of his untidy boots, but his gray suit, though worn, too, and wet, was well cut and well made, revealing square shoulders and firm muscles.

"Wonder if there's any grub," said the Duke.

All the kitchen shelves bore brightly colored tin boxes, with bright lettering, but they were empty. The bread-box was empty, of course; no use opening that. But above the shelves was a cupboard, and in that cupboard were rows of canned things—each can neatly wrapped in paper—sardines, anchovies, caviar, chicken, ham, tongue—all sorts of things. "Hospitalable people," said the Duke. "I wonder where they keep the coffee."

Thirty minutes later, His Grace had dined sustainingly, if not well. Half the contents of the pot of coffee still bubbling on the stove had warmed him comfortably, and he washed the dishes. Then he put everything back in place, turned out the lights, and, whistling merrily, went upstairs.

At the top of the steps was a kind of library—book-lined, with doors on either side, and, at its end, windows facing the sea. Even through the blackness, the intruder could discern the almost luminous white of breaking waves.

Again, he touched a switch, and, this time, lights sprang into being in shaded table-lamps, doubly shaded now by winter wrappings. A fire had been laid in the grate. He lit the fire, and a cigar, and then opened a door on his right.

This was a man's room, gracious and inviting. The Duke felt the mattress drawn back over the footboard of the bed, and, sniffing a pungent odor of cedar and camphor, turned his attention to a closet across the room. A very large closet, with an electric light in it, and built-in drawers, and a cedar chest. Atop the chest were two pairs of slippers, and above it hung the only garment visible, a blue-striped dressing gown of soft, light flannel. His own apparel still clinging damply, the Duke took the dressing gown and slippers back to the blazing fire, and, standing luxuriously before it, changed his clothes.

Still neat, he carried the gray suit and the wet undergarments back to the bedroom, folded the trousers carefully, and laid them on the box-spring. With one hand, he flung the mattress into place over them.

He returned to the fire, stretching himself lazily in a huge, over-stuffed chair. Outside, the storm was growing steadily worse. Wind-flung against the windows, the rain kept up its incessant swish. A little puddle formed on one of the sills. The Duke mopped it up with an old cloth that had been spread over the big chair, and looked through the glass into a cluster of bushes, illuminated from the windows, as though tossed their tops frantically, as though moved by wild despair. "It's a filthy night," the man in the dressing gown thought, as he sauntered back to the crackling logs, drawing contentedly at his cigar, and pausing to take a book from the loaded shelves. "A filthy night."

In the thick of it he had been an hour before. Penniless, overcoatless, trudging along the cement-paved road from Bridgehampton, five miles to the east. Was it five miles, he thought, or fifteen, or fifty? On foot, he had left New York that morning just after day-break. Jobless and flat broke.

For a month—all through April, in fact—the Duke had tramped the streets looking for "a regular job." "What the h—l makes me want to keep straight?" he had asked himself, again and again. "That's all right for guys with an income. If somebody'd started me in a rubber-tired pram, and wheeled me into college, and out again into papa's office—sure, I'd run straight. Why not? Who couldn't be a knight in armor—that's different. When you get dumped into a fight, naked, with nothing but your bare fists, and the whole world coming at you with brick-bats and brass knuckles, what a d—d fool you are to stick to the Marquis of Queensbury Rules!"

Still, he had stuck—reasonably, at least—in the face of what seemed almost a conspiracy of discouragement. Fired out of Hollywood for a theft of which he was innocent as an unborn babe. "All right," he had said; "I've got a few hundreds saved, and I'll go East, and start all over again." Confidently, he had left the railway station in Chicago, only to have his pocket picked before he had got as far as the hotel. He had nearly frozen in Chicago. He had nearly starved. And then he had hitch-hiked to New York, riding freights when he could. A pal had christened him "the Duke," because of his clothes, and his English, and the grand manner he had acquired in Filmdom.

New York—with those Hollywood shoes wearing thin, and that Hollywood gray suit, that had cost $125, getting frayed and baggy. Part of a jobless army in a city without jobs. He had eaten his overcoat—or the proceeds from it, at any rate—and paid the last dime for a bunk in a flop-house.

A love of books, a sense of humor, and the wanderlust—these he had inherited from an Irish father, whose name was Francis X. Gilbert, and whose proudest boast was that he came from the University of Dublin. He had died in China, nearly six years ago, leaving the seventeen-year-old boy, Barry, to fight his way from Hong Kong to Hollywood, and from Chicago to New York. And so Barry had crossed the Queensboro Bridge to Long Island, and picked up a truck, and charmed the driver into buying him a pretty good lunch at Huntington, Bay Shore in a passing car, and Sayville on foot, and another truck to Bridgehampton, where he had lost his bearings and tramped back miles before he found himself again on the edge of Southampton.

It was black night, and beginning to rain. A cold wind had sprung up from the northeast. An endless, winding road, and wind-and-rain-swept dunes, with solitary houses. Grand houses they were, all of them. A few had lights inside—and dogs wandering about, as he had discovered in the course of two desperate excursions. Most of these dwellings were dark and vacant. "Houses without people," the Duke had muttered, still not-too-resentfully, "and people without houses. It doesn't seem fair."

His teeth were chattering by now, and his feet squished in his wet shoes. And this house had seemed so utterly deserted, so entirely safe and secure. "Ten o'clock," said the Duke. "What's the chance of anyone finding me in there tonight? And, if they do, it's better than freezing to death. I'll be on my way again at daybreak."

Now, fed and warm, he was growing drowsy before the fire. "It must be swell to live like this all the time," he brooded, dreamily. "I wouldn't break into anybody's house if I had one like this. Gosh, I guess I'll sleep here. It's warmer than the bed, and I've got a long hike ahead of me in the morning."

His head fell forward, and his eyes were closing, when he heard an automobile door slam, and, an instant later, voices and the shuffling of feet on the porch directly beneath him.

The Duke sprang to the electric switch.

Fast he moved, his wits worked faster still.

"No," he thought; "that won't do. If the lights go out, they'll know there's something wrong!"

The breakfast room window—that was it! But not in dressing gown and slippers. "Damn! Fool, to take my clothes off!" thought the Duke. Who were these people, anyway, driving up to a closed house at this hour? Thieves? Stragglers, like himself? Hardly—in a big limousine like that he glimpsed hastily from the window.

Well, what next? Jail, probably. How long could they give a man for unlawful entry? "Damn!" said the Duke. And then he heard the lower door open, and a woman's voice in the hall. "Maybe I can talk my way out," he thought, and started down the stairs. "Who's there?" he called, bravely, as his feet touched the first landing.

A man answered. "Willets," he said. "Willets, the butler. Is that you, Mr. Ridder?"

And the lights went on.

Standing there, on the landing naked except for the dressing gown, the Duke found himself facing a party of four. Willets, with his hat in his hand, squat and powerfully built and ludicrously bald. Another man in a chauffeur's uniform, and two women—one quite young, and the other middle-aged and stout. They seemed proprietory, and the fact gave him instant courage.

"Is that you, Mr. Ridder?"

The question had been asked first in the dark, but now it was repeated in a glare that made every face plainly visible. The butler didn't know Mr. Ridder, then. That was "a lucky break." It would give him time to dress, and get away.

"Yes," he answered, quietly. "You're a little late, aren't you?"

"Sorry, sir," said the butler. "I didn't have any idea you'd be here, sir. Your mother said you wasn't coming until tomorrow. Evans had to take 'em down to the ship—her and your father, sir—and then he had to go back to the hotel, and pick up me, and cook, and the maid. The storm didn't help, neither, and we stopped at Patchogue for dinner. I hope you ain't going to be put out, sir."

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

The publicity seeker—and his name is the well-known legion—is one of the banes of the life of a New York newspaper man. Hardly a liner arrives but that an individual, or some one representing some one else, comes to the ship news reporters with the suggestion of a "good story." Experts in their line, the ship news men are quick to weed out the phonies. Occasionally one slips through and that encourages others. Ship news photographers are equally besieged. Reporters assigned to City Hall get their full share of the publicity hounds, phonies visiting there daily in the hope of wangling a line or two of print. All big trials, of course, attract them in numbers. Last year, many made the journey to Flemington, N. J., and obtained tickets to the Hauptmann trial not only because of interest in the proceedings but in the hope of mention.

Many of those whose earnest desire is publicity are meal tickets for press agents. They don't care much what is said about them so long as they get into the papers. So the press agents dig up ancient gags and attach names of their clients. Or they manufacture bright stuff and accredit to some one who never had an idea—save seeing his name in type. Many actors, fortunate enough to have engagements, do not depend on the press agent of the show but employ press agents of their own. Radio performers do the same. With them, however, it is strictly business. But they have stern competition with a lot of amateurs.

That yearning for publicity has been capitalized by others than press agents. Night clubs frequented by columnists, other scribblers and photographers play to such a clientele. All sorts of courtesies are extended to the ladies and gentlemen of the press because their presence draws a class of trade willing to spend money, and that balances up whatever may be consumed "on the house."

Down in Miami recently, George Ade, Bruce Barton, John N. Wheeler and Grantland Rice called on Carl Fisher, who developed Miami Beach and who lost his fortune in the development of Montauk Point. In the course of reminiscences, Mr. Fisher told a story of Barney Oldfield with whom he was closely associated in the old days. Oldfield was racing on a small track on a bad day with not more than a thousand persons present. The greasy track and a blowout caused him to crash through the fence and kill or severely injure two spectators. Later Oldfield informed Fisher that if every man, woman and child, who had shaken hands with him since that accident and told him they were present when it happened, had been truthful there would have been such a large and lucrative crowd he never would have had to drive again.

Another press agent yarn just bobbed up. It seems that the publicity man of a well-known night club was eager to get in touch with one of the editors of a weekly magazine in the hope of landing a radio spot for one of his clients. For three weeks he haunted the editor's office with no success. Worn out and in despair, he went to the club that employed him one evening and began to soak up his boss' liquor. While so doing, he met a pleasant companion and they drank together until 3 a. m. As they were parting, they exchanged names. You've guessed it—the drinking pal was the editor and not once had the client's name been mentioned!

The doorman of an East side apartment house told me of the cranky tenant whose tempers for six months or more kept the entire house staff in an upset state. Nothing could please him—he had a complaint concerning everything that was done or left undone. To make matters worse, he never tipped. From porter to superintendent, all willingly would have attended his hanging. Recently, he surrendered his lease and moved to the country. On his departure, he left an envelope for each employee. In each, was a final complaint, one that fairly blistered. But with it was a $50 bill. The curruway turned out to be real and all employees of that house are still going around a trifle dazed.

Discovers America Has Best Dancers

London.—American girl dancers are still way ahead of their English sisters, declares Mistinguette, darling of the French music halls and owner of the "million-dollar legs."

In London for a brief visit, Mistinguette, at sixty-five years, is still the same gay, vivacious person who for so long has been the idol of Paris and other world cities.

"I am looking for some 'attractives,' some English girls, for a new revue in which I am to appear in Paris next month. But I have not been lucky," she sighed.

"The girls are pretty, certainly, but they have not got that gaiety, that chic, that sex appeal that American dancers have."

ON BEING SINCERE
If a man with few faults has few friends, it is probable his one great fault is insincerity.

This story will interest many Men and Women

NOT long ago I was like some friends I have... low in spirits... run-down... out of sorts... tired easily and looked terrible. I knew I had no serious organic trouble so I reasoned sensibly... as my experience has since proven... that work, worry, colds and whatnot had just worn me down.

The confidence mother has always had in S.S.S. Tonic... which is still her stand-by when she feels run-down... convinced me I ought to try this Treatment... I started a course... the color began to come back to my skin... I felt better... I no longer tired easily and soon I felt that those red-blood-cells were back to so-called fighting strength... it is great to feel strong again and like my old self. © S.S.S. Co.

A large crowd attended the band concert given Monday night in the high school auditorium by the Seguin Lutheran College Band, under the sponsorship of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Hondo. The audience was especially pleased with the Sousa marches, the light opera selections by Victor Herbert, and the presentation of "Boots and Saddles". Director R. R. Willmann brought down the house with a spirited marimba selection and the more beautiful numbers, "Mighty Lak a Rose" and "Moonlight and Roses". A very entertaining program was presented and the band is to be congratulated on the variety of the program and the skill of performance.

QUIHI NOTES.

And God was with the lad; and he grew, and dwelt in the wilderness, and became an archer. Gen. 21: 20.

Things are running normally. The horrid experience in the desert is almost forgotten. That well of water, wondrously supplied, has given a new lease on life for mother and son, and God has held his guarding hand over the boy, assuring his growth, providing a dwelling place, frugal but sufficient, and keeping him busy with a profession to suit his taste and talent, and helpful in securing the wherewithals for a simple existence. Just an ordinary life's program with millions of duplicates at all times. Why the hue and cry about it? Unfortunately, too many are silent about these simple and ordinary matters, as we please to call them. What? Why should He be interested in his affairs, whereas the lad is quite often far away from that God in thought, ambition, conduct and inclination; whereas that lad ever so often is little interested in his own possibilities, opportunities and future development? Again, why should God preserve a life by promoting a constant growth from 7 lbs. to 175 lbs. or more of avoidups, with every organ in miraculous proportion in that "ordinary" way of changing those daily rations of meat and vegetables and pices, etc., into cells, bones, flesh and skin, nerves and muscles, hair and nails, etc., (a process that no chemist with all his laboratory equipment, knowledge and experience can perform) and seeing that human machinery, the heart, lungs, circulation, the whole apparatus, etc., on the go, night and day, while the "lad" is heedless, unconscious of the factory within him? Yea, why should God implant that self-consciousness, world-consciousness and God-consciousness, that intelligence and will power and world of emotions, the sense of responsibility (his conscience), the various talents, tastes, ambitions and energies into the lad? What make Him do it? And all this is implied in the term; he grew, and much more besides, namely his ability to repent and believe and hope and rest in prayer, praise and thanksgiving, if he cares to be above the animal level, including his bent for chivalry, friendship, sex appeals, and the gift of adequate expression for his mental impressions, the ever developing faculty of speech. We can hardly appraise that process of growth in every detail. And so God is with the lad and helps him to adapt himself to home and profession, building his future and eternity. God sees that of His own gracious will, not the lad. It's really worth the hue and cry. Does the lad know and appreciate it today? How can he recognize, pay back? My son, give me thine heart, and let thine eyes be serve my ways. Prov. 23, 26.

Mrs. John Balzen is rapidly making recovery, and also Mrs. F. Borchers was able to leave the hospital, greatly improved. The latter is thanked. And we invoke Him on behalf of Mrs. Emil Saathoff who is still troubled with a persistent fever that saps her energy and keeps her from her daily program.

Grave fears prevailed for the youngest children of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Reitzer. They are both at the Medina Hospital, down with an attack of pneumonia. We gave the boy-boy the emergency baptism. We pray for the recovery of the child. Theodore and Miss Margie Reitzer served as sponsors. May the Heavenly Father spare those tender lives and lift the anxiety off the heart of the parents.

Attention, Leaguers. The usual monthly audience will be there to hear your next program. Here are the numbers in part: Recitations by Misses Ida Balzen, Eileen Hartman, select readings, Marvin Grell, Harold Weeber; vocal selections, Mr. Frank Boehle, Miss Hulda Oeffinger; instrumental number, Corine Nietenhoefer. Thanks.

Friday afternoon the club gathered at the Oaks with Miss Nora Ann Bendele as hostess.

After snapping a few shots for our next movie entitled "Jungle Artists", in which Bonita Speece is the star, we all went for a horseback ride on Judy's horse. No, pardon us, not at all! We were afraid that "Tex" wouldn't approve of all of us at one time. We didn't ask for we thought he might think us a wee bit silly. Ruth, Nora Ann, and Marq Frances are the best "mousters". They frightened every mouse out of the barn. They had as their accomplices Mildred, Frances Ellen, and Judy.

Delicious refreshments consisting of chicken salad, potato chips, pickles, angel food cake, and iced chocolate were served to the following: Miss "Nookie", Mildred Van Fleet, Mary Frances Van Fleet, Judy Lacy, Bonita Speece, Ruth McWilliams, Nora Ann Bendele, Frances Ellen Woolls, and Miss Shaw.

Thus ended a very delightful afternoon.

SENIOR INVITATIONS.

The dignified seniors are patiently waiting for every member of the class to "fork over" the money for their invitations. They plan to send them to all of their friends, so we are sure that no one will be left out.

The Seniors of this year wish to be very essential so consequently they do not let their tongues slip about the commencement exercises. We hope it will be a "knock out".

—Owlets—
FIFTH GRADE.

Summer sports are now in view.

Ed H. J. Williams and Joe Embry report a pleasant swim Sunday.

Fifth graders seem to be quite a group of travelers. Adabell Pichot enjoyed a trip to the Graff ranch recently; Lorine Eckhart and Stella Grell journeyed to San Antonio over the week-end; Betty Lu Williams visited in Devine; and Mable Taylor traveled as far south as the gateway to the Rio Grande Valley, Falfurrias.

—Owlets—
THIRD GRADE.

The Third grade has begun a study of Texas. We are busy drawing maps, studying the history, people, surfaces and soils, weather, cities, seaports and products of Texas.

We hope that John Henry Embrey will be back in school before long.

Frances Beal, Gladys Bohlen and Charles Monkhouser attended a recital at O. L. L. Sunday afternoon.

Pochie Hunter went to San Antonio this week-end.

Baseball News

Last Tuesday the Hondo High School Owls played the Castroville Cutting Ants on the Plaza. The Owls won with a score of 19 to 4. Tom Finger pitched for Hondo because Mr. Barry was saving Muennink and Ep Finger, the regular Owl pitchers, for the more important games which were to be played later in the week.

Last Wednesday the Owls played Lanier in San Antonio. The Owls were defeated by a score of 13 to 11. (Sounds like a pitching duel to me.) The Owls scored two home runs, one by Ep Finger, and the other by Juan Perez. They tell me that several costly errors were made and that Kyle Muennink put 'em over so fast that when the batters saw them coming, they just swung and incidentally most of them hit the ball for several base hits.

The Owls were again defeated Friday night when they played in Austin. (This came as a surprise to all Owl fans, for Owls are supposed to be better at night than they are during the day.) The final score was 8 to 6.

There will be several good games here, on the Plaza, this week if the weather permits.

TEXAS WRITER GETS INTERNATIONAL RECOGNITION.

Mrs. W. A. Porter, who has written many poems about Texas and various other subjects, has received recognition abroad in that she has had a poem published in "The Spring Anthology" of 1935 published by the Mitre Press in London, England.

The Spring Anthology is a compilation of representative verse from the world's living poets.

Mrs. Porter's poem, which was accepted for publication in this book, is titled "The Country Church Yard", and was sent to London by Miss Alice Emerson of Indiana, who compiles material for an Indiana Anthology, which book also contains some of Mrs. Porter's poems.

The recognition of Mrs. Porter's writings by bookmen in other states and nations bears out the old saying that "A prophet is unknown in his own country" and should make us who live in the same town with her, realize more her worth as a verse writer.

Mrs. Porter is now writing a poem or book of poems concerning the Texas Centennial which she expects to have published in the near future. She has also won front page in the Hondo Anvil Herald, a weekly publication at Hondo, Texas, with a poem "The Shepherd's Story", and has had other poems in this publication at various times. She writes under the name, Addiebell Senter Porter.—Tulsa (Texas) Paper.

FINDINGS AND INTERPRETATIONS OF VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE TEACHING.

Vocational Education Bulletin No. 180 from the U. S. Office of Education reports interesting and valuable findings from studies made in the different states under college direction. 373 research studies for M. S. and Ph. D. degrees are reported. Ohio, C. U., 107.

V. A. teachers average 61 hrs. and 32 min. per week in work. Average annual instructional cost over 5 yrs. $2193.00.

N. Y., Cornell, 108:
Improved relations between the school and community, increased interest on the part of all-day pupils, and an average of 77.05 improved farm practices per school as a result of evening school instruction.

Farmers devote most of farm shop work to repair jobs; ag. teachers devote practically all their teaching to construction jobs.

N. Y., Cornell:
Since it is impossible to predict in what part of the state a graduate will be placed, such subjects and content as give sample of agriculture common to state at large emphasized.

Va., V. P. I., 134:
District supervision increases enrollment, improves supervised practice, and results in greater progress of departments.

Iowa, I. S. C., 140:
The project with its attendant problems was found to be the best nucleus for class room teaching.

There is decided loss in teacher-training efficiency at Iowa State College because graduates either do not teach or teach for short periods only.

Iowa, I. S. C., 145:
School's task to interest boys and girls in the occupations society is demanding instead of allowing them to overcrowd certain occupations and neglect other equally desirable ones.

Iowa, I. S. C., 147:
Persons not regularly enrolled in school in Voc. Ag. communities made greater progress than the average of persons in communities having no V. A. teacher.

Kan., S. C., C., 148:
Instruction should be offered in connection with real production jobs undertaken at the time the job is seasonal in the community.

Ill., U. I., 153:
The project should be used as a device for teaching rather than as a means of application of theories.

Ohio, O. S. U., 168:
Average mileage of all cars for voc. duties for 6 mo. period was 3,249 miles. Average cost per car was $222.20.

Iowa, I. S. C., 139:
To discover influences potent in developing an American population that will be successful, contented, and happy, most of the farmers had launched new practices later in life and had attributed their success to education, and the larger percentage were interested in rural organizations.

Tenn., Peabody, 170:
Itinerant teacher-trainers should visit farm projects of present and former pupils.

Further summaries of results obtained by Vocational Agricultural teaching continued in next issue.

USED CARS DISPOSAL.

The announcement of the new R & G used car sales plan by the Ford dealers of the Houston Branch of the Ford Motor Company marks one of the greatest steps forward ever made by a dealer organization in setting a new and higher standard in used car values.

The trade-mark R & G stands for Renewed and Guaranteed, meaning that used cars sold by authorized Ford dealers under this trade-mark have met a rigid set of specifications as to their mechanical condition as well as appearance. Backing these specifications and for further assurance of the quality of R & G cars is a written guarantee of "Satisfaction or Your Money Back", which is given to the buyer by the dealer. It reads as follows:

"We agree to correct at our expense any condition in this car or truck which is not in accordance with the above specifications, provided that we are notified by the purchaser of this condition within ten days from this date, and further provided that such condition is not the result of accident, neglect, or abuse of the car or truck after delivery to the customer, and that the car or truck has not been repaired or altered outside of our shop during the guarantee period."

—Owlets—
Money-Back Guarantee.

"We further agree that we will refund such part of the purchase price of the car or truck as has been paid by the purchaser, including any used car or truck applied as part payment or, at our option, the allowance price thereof in cash, thereby cancelling the sale if the purchaser so requests; provided that this request is made by the purchaser at or before o'clock on — 19—, and the car or truck is then returned to us in the same condition as when delivered." (Signed Ford Dealer)

In effect this written guarantee covers virtually every mechanical unit on the car, as well as the body, upholstery, hardware, paint, top, etc. Among the more important mechanical units covered are: brakes, chassis, clutch, electrical system, engine (including bearings, carburetor, compression, ignition points), radiator, rear axle, springs, steering and transmission.

Mr. E. C. Jones, local Ford dealer, comments on this new plan by stating, "R & G does not mean that cars sold under this emblem will cost more than ordinary 'used cars'—it does mean the mark of an exclusive value. It is the buyer's personal guarantee of complete satisfaction in the purchase of an automobile backed by the pledge of the Ford dealer from whom he buys it."

A man who allows himself to be carried away with enthusiasm often has to walk back.

ROBUST DRAMAS SCHEDULED FOR COLONIAL SHOWING.

There is enough color for a hundred novels in the real lives of the men who play the "Vigilantes", miners, gamblers and bartenders in "Barbary Coast", Samuel Goldwyn's colorful drama of America's last frontier of emotions, which shows at the Colonial Theatre tonight and Saturday, with Miriam Hopkins, Edward G. Robinson and Joel McCrea in the leading roles. To get the greatest accuracy and realism into their picture, producer Goldwyn and Director Howard Hawks secured for these roles as many men as possible with such experiences in their careers. The result was one of the most unusual collections of characters ever seen in a single motion picture.

Miriam Hopkins has her most spectacular role as Swan, a beautiful girl grown hard, cold and bitter behind the roulette wheel of the Bella Donna cafe. Edward G. Robinson plays the ruthless and jealous Chamalis, who runs the place and Joel McCrea is seen as Jim Carmichael, a fine, clean-cut young gold miner who wanders into Swan's life and by his love transforms her.

Zane Grey, noted writer of stories of the great West, will again be represented on the local screen. Paramount's screen adaptation of his famous novel, "Desert Gold" will show Monday and Tuesday at the Colonial. Prominently cast in the Western story are Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Marsha Hunt, Tom Keene, Raymond Hatton, Monte Blue and Robert Cummings. The story deals with the abduction of a young Indian chieftan by an unscrupulous mine promoter seeking to rob the Indian tribe of a hidden gold mine. A young mining engineer rescues the chieftan. The scenes which follow are said to be intensely gripping and filled with vital action.

LACOSTE LEDGERETTES.

From The LaCoste Ledger. CONRAD-GEIGER.

On Tuesday morning, April 14th, 1936, at 8:30 o'clock, St. Mary's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Miss Helen Geiger, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Geiger from here, and Frank J. Conrad, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Conrad of Devine, were united in the hold bonds of matrimony, with Rev. Joseph Schwellen performing the ceremony, followed by a Nuptial High Mass.

The bridal party entered to the strains of a pretty wedding march, played by Miss Octavia Keller, in the following order: Miss Marie Christilles, bridesmaid in pink, and Ralph Conrad; Miss Alma Conrad, bridesmaid in blue, and Henry Geiger; Miss Ann Geiger, maid of honor in green; little Miss Vivian Spear, flower girl in peach; Mrs. Oswald Sauer, matron of honor in peach, followed by the bride, attired in white satin with wreath and veil, with her brother, Walter Geiger, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the sanctuary by the groom and his best man, Arthur Conrad.

The bride carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and lace fern and her attendants carried arm bouquets of pink carnations and fern. Following the ceremony the bridal party and invited guests repaired to the home of the bride's parents where the happy event was celebrated until a late hour.

The bride, a LaCoste girl, has held the position of chief linotype operator, composer, press-operator and assistant editor with the LaCoste Ledger, for better than six years, and was favorably known to young and old in this territory.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad will make their home on a farm in the Francisco Perez community, where the groom has been engaged in farming for a number of years.

We join the many friends here and in the Devine community in extending our congratulations to the newly wedded couple. May they enjoy a long, happy and prosperous married life.

CHEVROLET SALESMEN HONORED.

One hundred and three retail salesmen from Chevrolet's Dallas Zone—all members of the 100-Car Club, salesmen's honor organization, spent three days last week in Michigan as guests of the Chevrolet Motor Company, and inspected the research, engineering, and manufacturing facilities behind the product they sell.

The Texans arrived at Milford, Mich., Wednesday afternoon, via special train, and were taken to the General Motors Proving Ground in buses. After several hours' inspection of the Proving Ground facilities, which few of them had seen, they boarded a special train for Flint, dinner being served en route.

Thursday was devoted to a trip through the motor and assembly plants at Flint, after which a special train brought them to Detroit for a banquet at the Book-Cadillac Hotel. Felix Doran, Jr., assistant general sales manager, congratulated the visitors on their contribution to the new all-time records Chevrolet has set this year.

Friday's program included a two-hour trip through the Chevrolet Gear and Axle plant, followed by luncheon at the Book-Cadillac, and an afternoon at Navin Field, where the Tigers' local opener was scheduled.

Since the sale of 100 or more cars in the preceding calendar year is the qualification for membership in the 100-Car Club, the group entertained here accounted for more than 10,000 cars in 1935.

DEVINE NEWSLETS.

From The Devine News. FROM YANCEY.

A ten days' revival meeting closed here last Sunday morning. Rev. Marshall of Devine was in charge of the meeting. Attendance was very good every night, also Sunday morning.

On Sunday night the Methodist choir rendered an Easter Cantata under the leadership of Miss Frankie Wiley. Everybody praised the singing and all who took part that it was so well rendered. Miss Wiley deserves credit for her untiring effort put forth in making the Cantata a success.

After the morning services a number of families went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ward, who had prepared a nice shady place for all to take dinner in the woods. The following families were present: August Fritz and Emil Bohmfalk, Joe, Bryan and Lucian Ward, Mrs. Katie Muenink, Philip Nixon, Mrs. N. F. Berry, Tom Duncan, Mrs. Luella Ward, Mr. McCeskey and wife. Visitors were Miss Pearl Ward and Miss Ellen Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Coy, also Ray Ward and a number of boys who took part in the games of baseball, soft ball and other amusements. After three o'clock Easter eggs were hidden and the little folks enjoyed the hunt immensely. When all eggs were found they were put in a pile and the children were lined up to pass by and divide the eggs equally. Everyone present enjoyed the day immensely.

Miss Elva Muenink was here on a brief visit and left again Sunday evening for San Antonio.

Mr. H. L. Saathoff and family had an enjoyable time Easter Sunday, the following visitors being there: Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Haass and little son, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Thompson, Roland Saathoff and Marvin Haass and their friends, Misses Mildred Vance and Jean Lessing, all of San Antonio. Miss Grace, who teaches at Black Creek, spent the week-end at home.

Miss Pauline McAnelly had her friends, Miss Vera Watts, and cousin, Miss Marion McAnelly, from San Antonio for week-end visitors.

Miss Laura Frances Wilson, who is a student nurse at Santa Rosa Infirmary, came home Saturday, while her brother, Albert, got home a few days earlier. Albert is a student at Texas University. We hope next time Miss Frances may get home first; Albert gets too many goodies by being first. We learn that Mr. M. F. Ward was leaving Monday morning to be a patient at the Santa Rosa Hospital for a few days, probably an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilson and baby of San Antonio were here for the week-end visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Gilson.

Supt. A. A. Skinner spent the week-end in San Antonio.

Miss Ellen Wilson motored to Uvalde last week Friday, accompanied by the tennis coach, and won second in tennis singles.

Coach Eggen took his athletic boys who brought back fine reports of three firsts and some second places. Harold Faselier first in pole vaulting, John McAnelly first in high jump and Bailey Crain made second place.

Mrs. John Faselier returned home from Medina Hospital one day last week. She and baby daughter are doing fine.

Mr. Clarence Crain spent Easter with homefolks and came to hear the Easter cantata.

Miss Dora Mae Wilson and nephew, Lawrence Wilson, spent the Easter holidays with homefolks.

Mr. and Mrs. Cude enjoyed the company of their son, John, and his friend, Mr. Brothman, of San Antonio last Sunday.

Very Distant

It was a birthday party given by a wealthy young farmer, and one of the guests noticed a somewhat lonely looking and shabbily attired man in a corner of the room, and walked over to him.

"I was introduced to you," he said, "but I didn't catch your name."

"My name," replied the other, "is Burton."

"Oh, then you are a relative of our host?"

"Yes," was the reply. "I'm his cousin twenty thousand pounds removed."

Justice Has to Fine Wife $10 for Speeding in Car

Earl A. Freeman, justice of the peace of Yuma, Ariz., fined his wife $10 for speeding. "I've known your husband for a long time and he ought to teach members of his family to drive carefully and observe all traffic laws," Judge Freeman said. "Your fine will be ten dollars." "Is this mine or your ten dollars?" he asked when she paid. "Yours," she replied. "I'll get another one to-night."

Bad Elimination Makes It Easier to Catch a Cold

With the right sort of food and proper exercise, constipation might be rare, but in actual living conditions, how few manage to escape it! Mr. Clyde Martin, of Ona, W. Va., recently wrote:

"If I let myself get constipated," he explains, "and my system filled with impure matter, I feel bloated, take cold easily, and feel out of sorts in a lot of ways. I will take about two good doses of Black-Draught. It seems to cleanse my whole system and I feel like doing my work."

Silk Prints and Chic Accessories

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

PRINTED silks headline the fabric story both for daytime and evening. Prints this season have an entirely new and refreshing look. New techniques and new patterns make current prints definitely 1936 and not carry-overs.

The latest treatment for daytime prints spaces tiny amusing motifs over the background. These miniature objects are frequently used instead of the dot theme. Animals are popular in patternings. Horses, and cunning dogs are decoratively delineated. Barnyard themes include roosters, tiny pigs, ducks and flying birds. Even fish and fowl have become print-conscious while butterflies dart over many of the modern silks.

As to flower prints, daytime florals are the most infinitesimal in years. Small bright florals spattered here and there, tiny bouquets and single flowers give silk prints a decidedly different look this season. Larger, more conspicuous flowers are reserved for afternoon and evening. Gorgeous florals on black, white or colored ground reflect exotic beauty.

The woman who diets will find the new vegetable and fruit prints quite to her liking. Radishes, carrots, beets, peppers, parsnips and tiny ears of corn thrive on silk crepe and silk shantung grounds. Fruit prints abound in the mode via apples, cherries, plums, strawberries and grapes in discreet and colorful patternings. The newer prints also include landscapes, newspapers, music notes, the alphabet and Roman numeral motifs.

Twin prints are news. Printed silk taffeta is combined with silk crepe in twin prints for jackets and redingote ensembles. Silk mousseline coats match the design of the printed silk crepe frocks worn under them.

GABARDINE SUIT

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The perfect tailoring of this distinguished suit is achieved by the use of fine wool gabardine which neither wrinkles or stretches and is never too heavy for comfort. The jacket is subtly fitted. It has two slash pockets set in at the sides. The straight cut skirt has the popular inverted pleat at center front, so that the skirt is amply full for walking but keeps a slim silhouette line.

To Match Prints

One of the new ideas that Paris is advancing is that of porcelain jewelry painted to match the printed dresses with which it is worn.

SPORTS-TYPE SILK FASHION HIGHLIGHT

In the realm of sports-type silks many newcomers are listed. Silk surah is a fashion highlight this season. Designers are using it in monotones, and in dotted or striped effects. Silk shantung is also a great favorite. The printed silk shantungs are especially smart used alone or in combination with plain. White silk shantung is the chosen medium for many of the handsomest summer tailors shown. It tailors beautifully and launders to perfection.

Other sports-type silks include silk foulards, silk seersucker and striped silk crepe. White silk serge, silk pique, silk jersey, parachute silk, checked silk sailcloth, also plain or plaid silk crepe are of intriguing interest. It is well to familiarize oneself with these new silks, in order to buy intelligently and acquire clothes "you love to wear."

Use Discretion in Color

Colored gloves for spring are established, but the chic of this fashion lies in the discretion and taste with which the accent color is applied.

Browns, rust or chardon, and blues are the best accent for gray. Red and rose are gay but not as smart.

The new violine ranges are smart with blues, and with the marine blue of Molyneux, the cyclamen shades are extremely smart.

With browns, their own darker or lighter shades or the rose tones are excellent, and with black, all colors, and white. The cinnamon browns are particularly good with black and extremely smart.

Greens may be worn with gray and with blue, are excellent with brown, but are never worn with green.

There is something all wrong about accessories that match the gown, and conversely, the accent note of contrasting accessories is so very right.

Pleats Prominent

Pleats play a prominent role in spring fashions. Sleeves, bodices and skirts of day frocks are worked in fine pleats and evening gowns have insets of sunray pleating. Short fan-pleated capes top several evening frocks.

Printed Trimmings of Silk Used on Elegant Daytime Frocks of One Color

Pattern No. 1851-B

The smartest of the new dresses are those in a single color with flashes of printed silk to trim them. This design is one of the best, made of blue cloxy silk and trimmed with a print in red and blue on a white ground. The front of the bodice has a row of buttons extending to the neckline and a collar of the printed silk. A slender, paneled skirt is split up the front to show a printed strip that is attached underneath. Three-quarter sleeves are gathered into fitted cuffs in harmony with the collar. And by all means don't overlook the lovely shoulder and hip yoke.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1851-B is available for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (34) requires 4 1/2 yards of 30-inch fabric with 3/4 length sleeve.

Bodyguards of Dictators

Because of attempts to assassinate them, Mussolini, Hitler, Stalin and Kemal, dictators over nearly 800,000,000 persons, are the most closely guarded men in the world. Not only are their movements kept secret, but they are surrounded by hundreds of bodyguards and often impersonated by doubles.—Collier's.

OF INTEREST TO THE HOUSEWIFE

When serving lettuce be sure that no water is on the leaves when french dressing is added. The water will spoil the dressing and the oil will not adhere to the lettuce. Do not put dressing on lettuce until it is to be served.

Don't keep gas stove burners turned on full after foods begin to boil. Turn burners down and keep down gas bills.

Cold roast beef toughens if cooked for any length of time in hot gravy. It is better to heat gravy and pour over the meat when ready to serve.

Gelatin for fruit desserts should be whipped until the consistency of whipped cream, thick enough to prevent fruit settling to bottom of mold.

To make frosting adhere to a cake, dust a little flour over the top of the cake and you will have no difficulty in making the frosting stick.

Soap improves with keeping, so when the stores offer sales of soap, it is economy to buy a quantity of it if you are able to store it in a cool, dry place.

When papering a room cut off the left-hand selvage on rolls before you begin to paste. Leave right-hand selvage uncut. The overlapping method of papering is far easier than trying to place two edges together.

You can't kill plant lice with a poison. You must dose them with some kind of liquid that will smother them to death. Kerosene emulsion or tobacco dust will do this.

If a fish bone gets caught in the throat, suck a lemon and the juice will quickly dissolve the bone.

Do not add dressing to a salad until just before salad is to be served. If salad greens are allowed to stand in dressing for any length of time, they will wilt.

D'HANIS, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1936

Miss Leona Poerner has come home from Crystal City, and is recovering from an attack of influenza in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Poerner. Their son, Mervin, who came home Easter from the CCC Camp at Woodville, is now employed at Castroville.

Among those attending the musical recital given by Misses Evelyn and Margaret Ann Knopp in San Antonio Sunday were the following: Mrs. Ed Finger and son, Edward, Mrs. Louis Carle, Jr., Mrs. A. J. Finger, Mrs. W. O. Rothe, Mrs. Alice Reinhart, Mrs. J. W. L. Hanley, Mrs. H. C. Rothe and daughters, Lucy and Ethel.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Carle and daughters, Lucille and Martina, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carle Sunday.

Miss Laurinda Rothe came home Saturday from San Antonio for a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rothe.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Couser visited his parents at LaPryor Sunday. Miss Bertha Sauter, Mr. Jos. Koch and daughter, Cornelia, visited Mrs. Charles Lurkholder in San Antonio Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reily and daughter, Aggie, of Sabinal made a brief visit with relatives here Sunday. Friends of Mr. Reily will be interested to know that he is able to enjoy drives in warm weather, although he remains in a semi-invalid condition.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Williams of Sabinal visited friends here Sunday. Mesdames I. F. Aten, O. J. Reinhardt, and A. J. Boog, and Mr. Herman Couser spent Wednesday in San Antonio.

Messrs. Nic Fohn, M. A. Zinsmeyer, Amos Finger, and Wilfred Fohn were at Kerrville Sunday.

SECO NINTH GRADE HONORED.

Decorated with green and white streamers and with spring flowers, Seco school was the scene of a gay party on Friday evening, when the Seventh and Eighth Grade entertained, honoring Wayne Stevens, Bertha Weyand and George Stevens, who are members of the Ninth Grade. Hubert Lutz, Wayne Stevens, and Edward Lutz won the prizes in a guessing contest. After various other games, refreshments were served. This was followed by dancing until a late hour. There were about 50 guests. The honorees received handkerchiefs as souvenirs of the occasion.

BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. Eric Rothe was hostess to the Bridge Club and other guests at her home on Saturday afternoon at 3. Four tables of players enjoyed the games, which ended with Mrs. Herman Ney holding high score among members, Mrs. Louis Carle, Jr., among guests, while Mrs. John Zinsmeyer held low score. These and Miss Josie Rothe, who drew high, received lovely prizes. Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames William Finger, Theresa Mandry, Emma Rothe, John Rieber, John Zinsmeyer, Ben Koch, Arnold Zerr, Ed Finger, Ferd Rock, Herman Ney, A. J. Finger, Henry Biry, and Louis Carle, Jr.; Misses Tina, Josie and Lucy Rothe, Carrie Langfeld, Cornelia and Sarah Koch.

MORE ABOUT THE FORT LINCOLN CELEBRATION.

Plans for the Fort Lincoln celebration of May 26 are now nearing completion. Each Wednesday afternoon finds a group of busy citizens on the site of the fort from 1 to 6 o'clock, preparing the grounds for the occasion. This week 50 or 60 men were at work under the direction of the park foreman, Mr. Jacob Lutz, who is always on the job. The ladies served refreshments after working hours.

J. P. Ephraim, chairman of the celebration, has received an interesting letter from Dr. George Lincoln of Worcester, Mass., great nephew and namesake of the captain for whom this fort was named.

The covered wagon that is being entered in the Battle of Flowers Parade in San Antonio Friday to represent D'Hanis should serve to draw attention to this historic spot. Mrs. V. D. Currin, who originated the idea, is in charge of the entry.

ST. ANTHONY'S COMMUNITY CLUB.

The St. Anthony's Community Club met in regular session on Friday, April 17th, at St. Anthony's School. About thirty members responded to the roll call. Mrs. Ben Koch, the president, called on Mrs. H. C. Rothe to lead the prayer, after which she appointed Mrs. Louis Richter to conduct the election of officers for the ensuing year. This resulted in electing Mrs. Frank Kimmerly, president; first vice president, Miss Cornelia Koch; second vice president, Mrs. Henry Weyand; third vice president, Mrs. Will Turney; secretary, Mrs. A. J. Finger; treasurer, Mrs. John Nester; reporter, Mrs. Henry Biry. This being accomplished, the minutes of the last meeting were read by Miss Cornelia Koch. Reports read by the treasurer and entertainment committee were very favorable. The outgoing officers thanked the members for their continued help during the year, and received thanks from the members in return for their zealous efforts in behalf of the club.

ROADSIDE PARKS OF MEDINA COUNTY ON HIGHWAY NO. 3.

With the recent donation of acreage out of the property owned by the heirs of the Bader Estate, the Texas Highway Department is well under way toward completion of Medina County's first roadside park. This site will be a monument for some years to come, to the fine interest and co-operation shown by the Bader heirs in this work for the erection and construction of roadside parks.

With the addition of the more recent donation of the John Muennink Parksite, Medina County, along the Old Spanish Trail route may feel proud of their share of contribution for the betterment of the State during the present Centennial year.

This work is under the general direction of Mr. J. R. Getts, State Foreman for Medina and Bexar Counties, Texas Highway Department.

Mrs. Jack Lacy, county chairman of highway beautification for Centennial year, informs us that a roadside park will probably be located later, in the D'Hanis section.
